Press Conference / Presentation to Police

On Wednesday, August 20, 2008 at 2:00 PM, the United States Marshal Service along with America's Most Wanted will present a plaque to the Colonial Heights Police Department commemorating the AMW 1000th capture.

On April 19, 2008, New York fugitive Dwight Smith was arrested in Colonial Heights. Smith, wanted for murder in New York, had been highlighted on the television show America's Most Wanted. A tip called into the show lead to the capture of Smith at a residence in Colonial Heights. The arrest of Smith became the America's Most Wanted 1000th capture.

The presentation and a press conference will be held in the Colonial Heights Police Department Community Training Room. The room is located off of the main police lobby at 100 A Highland Avenue. Members of the United States Marshal Service, a representative of America's Most Wanted, and Police Chief Jeffrey W. Faries will be available for interview. A brief statement will be made at the time of the plaque presentation.
